Membership Application Form

Further your interest in the science of astronomy by becoming a member of the Huddersfield Astronomical & Philosophical Society.

As a member, you will be entitled to the use of the many facilities offered by the Society, including the use of the powerful, state-of-the-art 16-inch (40cm) Meade Schmidt-Cassegrain telescope, situated at the Huddersfield Observatory near Crosland Heath Golf Course.

The Society also owns a top-of-the-range 4-inch refracting telescope, a computer-controlled 11-inch Schmidt-Cassegrain telescope, several dedicated solar telescopes, a pair of very powerful giant binoculars and several other simple telescopes available to hire. Combined with sophisticated imaging equipment and a wealth of other astronomical resources, you can take your interest in the skies above as far as you want!

Most importantly, you will have the opportunity to meet other people with similar interests – from beginners to advanced amateurs. We meet at the clubroom every Friday evening at 7:30pm.

Everyone is welcome!
